SINCE the discontinuance of the original Gentleman's Magazine, and of the Obituaries that formed so important a feature of that famous periodical, the need of some record of the Necrology of each year has been keenly felt by students.

The Council of the Index Society thought that they might, to a certain extent, fill this void by preparing an Index of Obituary Notices in the Times, Athenæum, Academy, Builder, Journal of the Iron and Steel Institute, and various other Journals and Transactions. The first of these Indexes contained references to notices of those persons who had died during the year 1878. The Index occupied 25 pages of the Appendix to the First Annual Report of the Society, and contained about 6000 names. The Index of Obituary Notices for 1879 was issued as an Appendix to the Second Annual Report of the Society, and contained references to a much larger number of newspapers and journals than the previous Index. It extended to 78 pages, and contained about 12,000 entries.

These Indexes met with a warm welcome, more particularly in the United States, where the wish was expressed that American names might be more fully represented. Through the kind offices of Mr. C. Cutter, of the Boston Public Library, several Librarians and others in the United States have supplied a large number of references to American papers, which have been included in the present Index. To these gentlemen I feel very deeply indebted, as the references they were so good as to send have greatly enriched the Index.

As the Index has grown so rapidly in size, and will most probably continue to increase, it may be said to have outgrown its position as a mere adjunct to the Report; it has therefore been thought expedient to publish it as a separate work. The present volume has been ready for some months, but publication has been delayed by circumstances which need not be alluded to further than to say that they were unavoidable. The Index for 1881 is approaching completion, and will be issued shortly.

In order to help towards the compilation of a series of these works, an Index of Obituary Notices from 1869, when the Gentleman's Magazine ceased to publish these Notices, to 1877, when the Index Society took the matter up, is being prepared.

I have been greatly assisted in the compilation of the Index by Mr. Arthur R. Cowdroy.

The following is a list of the periodicals Indexed in the present volume :

P R E F A C E .

IN introducing the present Index of Obituary Notices there is little to be added to what was said in the preface to the last volume. The work continues to increase in size, as was anticipated; but it is still less complete than it might be made, if we had more assistance from those who have access to local papers. I shall be greatly obliged to any one who will undertake to Index the Obituaries in any newspaper or other periodical not in the following list.

Thanks are due to those who have assisted in the compilation of the present Volume, especially our friends in the United States, who through the kind offices of Mr. C. A. Cutter have contributed the entries from American papers.

It is to be regretted that the Obituary Notices in the following American papers, which were included in the last volume, have not been received for this year.

Albany Evening Journal.
Chicago Times.
Chicago Tribune.
Harper's Weekly.
New York World.

Providence Journal.
Scientific American.
Worcester Daily Spy.
Worcester Evening Gazette.

The compilation of this Index is, like that of last year, chiefly the work of Mr. Arthur R. Cowdroy.

The following is a list of the periodicals indexed in the present volume.

THE present is the third volume of the Annual Indexes of Obituary Notices, and, owing to the delay that has occurred in its publication, it will be followed very shortly by the Index for 1883.

The Indexing of Works of Biography has always been accepted as one of the most important of the objects of the Index Society, and it is hoped that a first instalment of the Index to Obituary Notices in the Gentleman's Magazine will soon be in the hands of the Members. The materials also for an Index to Obituary Notices in Newspapers, Transactions, etc., between the completion of the old Gentleman's Magazine and the commencement of the Annual Volumes of the Index Society, are also in a forward state. It is, therefore, to be hoped that public support will be given to the Society in the endeavour to make a perfect series of Biographical Indexes from 1731 to the present time. The expense of producing these Indexes is considerable, and without this support the period over which the publication must be spread will be longer than the Council would wish.

Like that of former years, the compilation of this Index is chiefly the work of Mr. Arthur R. Cowdroy.

The following is a list of periodicals indexed for the year 1882:
